

A large, empty stadium with a green field and a black and white soccer ball in the foreground. The stadium seats are visible in the background, and the sky is blue with some clouds.

How will you celebrate if your team win the match?

- Victory dance around the living room?
- A few pints?
- Putting someone you love in hospital?

Reported incidents of domestic abuse increase during major sporting events.

Don't let your joy turn into their fear.
